ICLARM Information Service

This list updates the article published in the April 1982 ICLARM Newsletter. We feel responsible to continue compiling these references to help researchers in retrieving information of particular interest to them. To our colleagues in the profession, this serves as a guide in making the users increasingly aware of the literature published.

We have included here both new works and older ones overlooked in the last article or acquired since then. Omitted are bibliographies dealing exclusively with cool temperate waters.

It is hoped that this small contribution in the field of fisheries and aquaculture will encourage others in preparing similar works.

Suggestions for additions which could contribute to the next update will be greatly appreciated. ●
