

Airing on BBC World News October 24-26

Were last year's food riots from Egypt to Haiti a warning of more to come? Marking World Food Day these two Dev TV co-productions, starting on the 17th, scour the world for promising solutions to a looming food crisis. As one interviewee says: "9 billion people into one planet doesn't go — we have a small window of opportunity to come up with the answers."
